

Miranda Hill

Miranda is a committed, experienced leader with extensive pharmaceutical industry experience in sales and in learning and development. She is highly passionate about working with people and developing untapped potential through providing quality learning opportunities in Leadership and Management Development, Sales and Personal Skills Development. Miranda also has considerable clinical expertise in the cardiovascular and metabolic arenas and a solid understanding of the UK NHS healthcare sector. As a qualified coach, she is a strong believer that everyone has the potential to achieve their goals. Through support and development. Miranda is passionate about helping people realise their goals. Her areas of expertise include:

- Management and Leadership Development
- Skilled Trainer and Facilitator
- Executive Coach
- Communication and Teamwork
- Presentation and Impact
- Project / Time management
- Emotional Intelligence
- Key Account Management and Sale

Miranda's career history involved being the founder and Director of a Personal Development, Leadership and Coaching Consultancy. She has extensive experience in creating, training and facilitating workshops in personal / leadership development, including emotional intelligence, personality styles, presentation skills, personal impact, leading self and team, coaching / mentoring and feedback training. As a qualified coach, she has supported individuals in both work and personal capacities. Miranda worked at Servier Laboratories Ltd (1997 – 2018), being Head of Learning & Development (Feb 06 – Mar 18).